Homely and wholesome

In today's cluttered world, it's nice to get back to basics and retain a sense of connection with natural elements and materials. To have a space that's unique and expressive – where you know there's nothing else like it.

The texture of a raw and natural approach adds a reassuring, stripped-back and functional feel to your en suite. It's homely, rustic and settling, as if it was always there. And it makes you, or your guests, feel genuinely at home.

Suave and sophisticated; no frills

The contemporary en suite opens the door to a new world of possibilities and it's a chance to create an ambience of understated strength, simplicity, confidence and attention to detail.

A bathroom at its best

As with anything homely, it's often the unrefined, the quaintly imperfect, that adds the character and contemporary warmth you're looking for. See what your fixtures and fittings are made with, and feel comfortable in an earthy and honest room.

Wood and stone, forged metals, shabby-chic surfaces that connect you with natural elements. Simple fixtures that function beautifully and complement a refreshing rustic ambience.

There's no need to fill a room, or make its décor complicated – especially with bathrooms. While there are more possibilities, the wise move is usually to keep it simple and inviting, using light and shadow, and subtle colour shades to add warmth and complexion.

VERDERA

These mirrored cabinets have plenty of storage, with adjustable glass shelves and mirrored interiors that make items easier to see and eliminate the need for opening and closing the door. They can also be recessed into the wall. Verdera's most innovative feature is an internal magnifying mirror that pulls out from the cabinet and also slides up and down and lays flat on the door when not in use.

What John Michael Kohler saw in 1883 when he looked at a cast-iron horse trough was the bathtub that launched a global plumbing company. That pioneering spirit of ingenuity – the kind that sees a bathing revolution in a horse trough – has defined Kohler Co. from its earliest days. A visionary, John Michael Kohler understood the importance of innovative design and an uncompromising commitment to craft and quality. After four generations, we remain a family-owned company, with over 26,000 products and 13,000 patents to our name. Still leading the industry in innovation and design. Bolder than ever.
